THE average cost of electricity to the 75,000 homes served by Alabama Power Company was approximately $35.00 during 1930. The average rate per kilowatt hour paid by these household customers is going steadily down-ward, being 4.87 cents per kilowatt hour now. It was more than 37.1% higher back in 1926. The cost of government-Federal, State and Local taxes (over the U. S.) in 1913 was $135.00 per family. In 1929 this cost had risen to $460.00 an increase of three and one half times. The cost of government per family is thirteen times the cost of electricity to the home served by Alabama Power Company.
